GRANT ENTERTAINS A MOMENTARY HOPE OF RECOVERY.

"I Wonder if I Will Get Well Again? The Chances Are a Hundred to One Against Me"--"A Choking Fit Will End Me" -- Hemorrhage.

NEW YORK, April 8.—After dressing Gen. Grant's head, Dr. Douglas remarked that it looked better than on Sunday. There was no evidence of the general's health, however, for some minutes later he said to Dr. Shreve: "I have been wondering if there might be a possible chance for me to get about again. I suppose the chances are a hundred to one against me, but I think if I have not got better, I think if I have another choking spell, that will end me very quickly. If you doctors can tell how long a man can live under water when he is drowning, you can just how long it will take to drown me." The fit was a severe choking fit, coming in the first instance.

The doctors expressed full agreement with the general's view. Then the general's chair was turned about the room as though he felt himself squarely faced toward recovery.

Messengers were sent out from Gen. Grant's residence to Dr. S. S. Shreve, Dr. S. E. Shreve, Dr. Chaffee, and Gen. Badeau were also sent for. The general's condition has taken an unfavorable turn.

Just before 4 o'clock the lights in all the rooms in the Grant house were turned on in full force, and the general was messaged in with messages for Dr. S. S. Shreve and Dr. Shreve. Another boy came out a moment later and ran to the telegraph office and filed messages for Gen. Badeau, Dr. S. E. Shreve, Dr. Chaffee, and Gen. Badeau at Stanford. Gen. Badeau arrived at the house within twenty minutes. He ran hurriedly up the steps and the door was open before he could ring, and anxious faces at the window showed that the others were impatiently awaiting his arrival.

No news is yet obtainable, but the fact that Dr. S. S. Shreve is summoned would indicate that a surgical operation is demanded, as he attends solely to that part of the medical profession.

"Gen. Grant slept well until he awoke and took his nourishment. Immediately after in a paroxysm of coughing he had a slight headache, which caused spontaneous pain in a few moments. The hands and fingers were wet and the general was afraid of a hemorrhage, having had no relief from the hemorrhage.

"DOUGLASS AND SHREVE."

Dr. Douglass was not asked everybody in order to relieve the family's anxiety. He says Gen. Grant is quite safe now and the trouble will probably not recur.

Dr. Shreve said: "Gen. Grant is quite safe, and the renewal of the hemorrhage is imminent."

Dr. S. S. Shreve has just arrived with his instruments. Senator Chaffee and Buck Grant came up a moment later.

Dr. S. S. Shreve has left the house and says no operation is demanded. Dr. Newman was called a few moments ago. There is a good deal of movement in the house, visible from windows, but no news has been obtained except that the general is having a severe coughing fit, and, unless relieved shortly, it will be fatal.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Scott Farley Killed While Oiling a Shaft at Pearce Bros.' Flour Mill.

A distressing accident occurred this morning, about half-past ten o'clock, at Pearce Bros.' flour mills, which resulted in the instant death of Scott Farley, one of the employees.

The mill, after a stoppage of several days, started up this morning, and as it was necessary to oil some of the shafting on the third floor, Mr. Farley was entrusted with that duty, and while so engaged met his death. He was in the act of oiling a shaft that run one of the conveyors, and by some means a part of his clothing caught in the boxing on one of the posts and before he could free himself or assistance could be given him he was carried over the shaft and thrown with violence against the sloping roof breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous.

His cries for assistance were heard by several persons near by and steam was cut off immediately but too late to save him from death.

The deceased is about thirty years of age and was unmarried. Mr. Mat Pease, the son of the Pearce Bros., said to a reporter of the BULLETIN: "He had been in our employ for about two weeks. He was a man of good habits and we never had in the mill a man who did his work more promptly or more satisfactorily." An inquest was held over the remains by Coroner Cockerell and a verdict found in accordance with the above facts.

ORIGIN OF "ARBOR DAY"

GOVERNOR MORTON, OF NEBRASKA, FIRST TO PLANT TREES.

Complicated Condition of the Winnebago Reservation—National News of General Interest—The Dolphin's Price.
Brief Notes.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—N. H. Eggleston, of the forestry bureau of the department of agriculture, answers the question which has recently been raised in many papers "Who invented Arbor Day?" Speaking of the origin of the custom, he says:
"In the case of an annual tree-planting day we are indebted to ex-Gov. J.
Sterling Morton, of Nebraska. Feeling as the early settlers in the prairie states could not see the value of trees for fuel, houses and shade, as well as to protect them from the blizzards of winter and the scarcely less uncomfortable hot winds of summer, they were almost compelled, as one of their first necessities, to plant trees to some extent.
Determined to make the prairie states more attractive to settlers, Morton, in a determined manner, and was limited for the most part to the planting of a class of trees like the cottonwood, of comparatively little value.

Gov. Morton, then, in his determined manner, planting would never meet the needs of the rapidly increasing population and the great objects to be secured by a proper supply of trees throughout the state.
Accordingly, he suggested that a particular day should be set apart for the planting to be observed as tree-planting day, the object being to fix attention upon the subject, to engage the people generally in the work, and to stimulate them by the knowledge that when the day arrived, the public would be present, and to give them an initial point from which they might carry forward the work as extensively as they might be inclined to do. It was not designed to limit the work to a single day, but the public interest was further to be stimulated also by the offering of premiums by the state, by towns, by agricultural or other societies, for the largest number of trees planted.

The suggestion of Governor Morton was well received. The state agricultural society designated the 30th day of April, 1872, to be observed as "Arbor Day," and so generally was it observed that it is claimed that 12,000, 000 trees were planted on that particular day. Since then it has been regarded with increasing interest.

The Winnebago Reservation.
Washington, April 8.—President Cleveland has had a consultation with Secretary Lamar in reference to the status of the Winnebago reservation settlers. No conclusion was reached and a further conference will be held. It is believed that the department applies to the service of the state if the government should attempt to eject settlers from the reservation. An official of the department remarked:

"The president's order is intended to exclude the people sold out on their possessions, went into the reservation and located homesteads. The attorney-general now says the president's order is invalid, and it becomes the duty of the interior department to execute it. We may congratulate ourselves if we attempt to do so does not result in bloodshed."

SIOUX CITY, Ia., April 8.—Specials from Dakota points say there is great indignation and surprise over the fact that Washington has issued a proclamation that the Black Hawk and Crow Creek reservation land opened to settlement by the proclamation of ex-President Arthur is to be withdrawn.

There are now nearly 9,000 families on the lands, many of whom journeyed from long distances, and have every dollar they own invested in their claims, and are actively at work making improvements. It will be a great hardship to these unfortunate people to be compelled to leave, and there may be considerable trouble to remove them if they should show a disposition to resist, which it is believed they will.

The Dolphin's Price.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The secretary of the navy has decided to designate three persons who have not been connected with the construction of the new steamer Dolphin, to assist him in passing upon the final payment.
The steamer will be the last of the class to receive the relief that it aroused from an intention to reflect upon the conclusion reached by the advisory board.

National Notes.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The commissioner of internal revenue has requested the attorney general to suspend action on the resignation of Judge Chesley, as solicitor of internal revenue, until the solicitor of internal revenue had completed certain important work which was engaged when the request for his resignation was made. It is said that the change was made without the knowledge of the congressional committee.

The solicitor of the treasury has approved the bond of Perry C. Smith, disbursing officer of the postoffice department. The bond is for $40,000.

Mr. Garrison, the newly appointed first comptroller of the treasury, has entered on the discharge of his office.

The solicitor of the treasury has received an offer from James M. Harper, formerly collector of internal revenue for the fifth district of Illinois, to pay $250 in compremised debts in liability to the government. The government obtained judgments against Collector Harper for about $68,000.

The postoffice department has issued the following order: "Henceforth Mexican domestic mail will be carried by the post office via the Mexican central railroad to Eagle Pass, Tex., to be forwarded to destination by means of United States railroads and postoffices at Eagle Pass, Laredo and Brownsville, Tex., and other intermediate offices. These mails will be promptly forwarded to destination intact by office of this service."

The visit to the battlefield of Gettysburg by officers and soldiers who participated in the battle will take place this year on the 4th of May. It is expected that the president will go with the party from here, and an invitation to be present has been sent to the Count de Paris.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 8.—Two young ladies named Agnes Johnson and Anna Cunningham, while returning home from Sabine Springs, were waylaid by a gang of robbers in a dark lane, and were severely beaten.
Miss Cunningham was killed instantly, her head and body being broken almost in two. Miss Johnson's head was crushed and her recovery is impossible. Both ladies were prominent in society.
